THE MARKETS.

A Most Exciting Day in the New York, Chicago, and Milwaukee Markets.

IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Yesterday proved a very exciting day on the Board of Trade.
There was occasion for it. Wheat went up two or three cents above even the high notch prices of the day before; for present delivery it reached $1.06 1/2. Pork also kept booming and even rose 25 cents a barrel, selling at $3.25@50 for cash and October delivery.

There were no special scenes on "Change the excitement perhaps being too serious a matter to exhibit itself in noise. There was, if anything, a more quiet board than usual, but the eagerness with which the latest quotations and bulletins were scanned showed the under-current.
During the day it became known that three failures had taken place. One of these that of J. M. Love & Co., really occurred the night before, but the concealment was short-lived.

IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The market for breadstuffs on the Produce Exchange today was the most exciting for many months, more than a million bushels of wheat being sold for future delivery. There was an advance in all cereals, flour being quoted from 10 cents to 30 cents per barrel higher than at the close on Monday, wheat from 2 cents to 3 cents per bushel advance; corn 1 cent to 2 cents, and oats are 1/2 cent higher.

MILWAUKEE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 23.—The breadstuff market is still booming under the impetus of favorable Eastern and European advices.

SPAIN.

The Slavery Question in Cuba Must be Promptly Settled.

MADRID, Sept. 23.—The Cortes will reopen the 31 of November. The government has received a memorial from Cuban slaveholders asking for a prompt solution of the slavery question. The memorial states that unless steps are speedily taken by the authorities the planters must themselves set the slaves free, to prevent their property being burned.

THE PRESIDENT.

The Reception of the Presidential Party in Missouri.

HANNIBAL, Sept. 23.—The President and party arrived here at 10 o'clock p. m. The excursionists were transferred to a car on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad, and after a short stay went on their journey. The Chicago members of the party returned from this point in the train which bore the party thither. There will be a grand reception at Sedalia to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock, where the President will take breakfast.

DIPLOMACY.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A dispatch from Vienna says the conference between Bismarck and Andrassy has resulted in an agreement that the German and Austrian interests in all pending European questions are identical, and that the condition of Europe is such as will leave no doubt that the two empires will be able to assert those interests peaceably.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY.

BUCYRUS, Ohio, Sept. 23.—A shocking tragedy occurred six miles north of here, in Crawford County, last evening. About 10 o'clock Mr. Geo. Schwab entered the room where Miss Mary Long was sleeping, and discharged the contents of a double-barreled shotgun in her breast as she lay asleep. Miss Long is the granddaughter of Mr. Culp, one of the oldest citizens of the county, and was just coming into possession of property valued at $75,000.
Miss Long was at the residence of H. Kline at the time, having just come to avoid the attentions which Schwab insisted on paying her. After committing the devilish deed Schwab ran to a tree adjoining the house, where he had previously secured a rope and hung himself.

He was discovered before he was extinct, but the exasperated neighbors would not cut him down, and he hung there until 10 o'clock to-day. Miss Long was an estimable young lady. Schwab was a worthless, drinking fellow.

POLITICAL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Mr. Cornell's letter of acceptance was received with great favor, its modest and vigorous tone being in favorable contrast with Governor Robinson's egotism and wholesale claims.
Mr. Cornell's earnest words on the subject of taxation and the overgrown power of corporations will win him many friends among the farmers. Reports from the interior indicate that the campaign is opening in the most favorable manner for the Republicans, who are united and zealous. Congressman Hisecock, who was a rival of Mr. Cornell for the candidacy, says his district will give a larger Republican majority than it ever has previously.
The famous disaffection extends to many parts of the State, and Kelley's friends are very jubilant over the growth of his influence.

GRANT'S MOVEMENTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—A slight rainfall took place this morning.
At 11 o'clock General and Mrs. Grant received about 200 Methodist ministers with their wives in the parlors of the Palace Hotel. The party were introduced by Bishop Gilbert Haven and the Rev. Dr.
Cox, formerly of Chicago.
Colonel Bee, Chinese Counsel, called today to make arrangements for Grant's visiting Chinatown. An attempt is being made to squeeze too many things into one day. General Grant's acceptance of the invitation to visit the fair for the benefit of widows and orphans of the Police Department attracted large attendance to Mechanics' Pavilion to-night.

FIRE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 23.—At 11:30 to-night a fire broke out in a saloon of Adam Dillman, on East Water street, and damaged the building and stock about $2,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock a fire was discovered in a four story business block corner of South Water and Franklin streets. The loss may be approximated as follows: Loss on building covered by insurance, $15,000; loss by water on Durand Bros. & Co's stock, covered by insurance, $35,000; loss by water on George Chabot's stock, covered by insurance, about $15,000; loss by water on W. H. Nickerson's stock and machinery, covered by insurance, $1,500. Loss by fire and water on Crags Bros. & Chandler's stock and machinery, partly insured, $10,000; making a total loss, according to the estimates of the parties interested, of $39,000, which is covered to within $7,000 by insurance.
The cause of the fire is unknown.

ue Collector Brayton has received a dis-

special deputy collector and United States Deputy Marshal T. J. Davis was shot this afternoon by J. B. Panther, while serving a bench warrant issued in North Carolina, but which had been made serviceable in this District by Judge Bryan. Panther was shot in the leg by a negro, and is now in jail at Spartanburg. Davis' thigh bone was badly broken.

MILITARY SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Secretary Mc-Crary has completed the revision of the estimates for the military service of the government, to be presented to Congress for appropriations at the coming session, and has cut them down to the lowest possible figure. The Secretary will this year ask Congress for a less sum of money to support the military than has been asked since the beginning of the war of tiring. There is no excitement or disorder of any kind.

NEW AND GOOD BOOKS.

OUT OF HIS RECKONING. By FLORENCE MAR-SHALL. Loring, publisher. 20 cents. For sale by the Janesville dealers.

The latest works of this author seem to have lost something of the power and finish of her earlier writings; but she has earned, as well as inherited, a prominent place in the novel-writing world, and the present story will be warmly welcomed by her admirers.

DORCAS. By GEORGINA M. CHALK. Harper's
Franklin Square Library. 15 cents. For sale
by the Janesville dealers.

A pleasant and well-written story, holding the interest of the reader throughout.
The few characters are consistently sustained, and, without startling plot or incident or deep dyed villain to harrow up the soul, the story leads to a happy termination.

A SADDLE IN THE WILD WEST. By W. H.
BENTLEY. Appleton, New York. 15 cents. For sale
by the Janesville dealers.

This interesting little book gives a vivid and amusing account of two years spent in the saddle as a member of the exploring expedition so ably conducted by Lieut. Geo.
M. Wheeler, in New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada and Eastern California.
The country traversed by them is the least known of our Empire.

A GREEN HAND. A "Short Yarn." By GEORGE
CROOKS. Harper's Franklin Square Library. 15 cents.
For sale by the Janesville dealers.

In nautical parlance a "short" yarn is merely an unfinished one and as a matter of fact has no relation to the length of the story. This yarn is spun at length and is sufficiently prosy to stamp it as a true sea romance.

CHICKEN CHOLERA.

Question.—My poultry are dying rapidly from what is called cholera. I have tried many things, so have my neighbors, with seemingly no good results. What is the disease, and what can I do to help my chicken, if anything?
C. Z.

Answer.—This disease, like its fellow in the hog tribe, is, and has been, for a long time, the subject of perplexing inquiry, with very little satisfaction. In my mind it is as much in the dark as ever. I have found one of the best remedies to be, just the moment a fowl is noticed to be drooping, rub its throat with salt from the rest, where no contact can take place. Give each five (5) drops of tincture of nuxvomica, ten (10) drops of tincture of ginger, one teaspoonful of rain water. Give this daily, keep dry and warm, but give plenty of sun and pure air.

Question.—I wish to ask your V. S. what to do for a cow that gives thick milk. At times one quart of her milk will be hard and sometimes half of her milk will be not get but a little milk. The next time I milk her the milk is thick and stringy.
What is the cause and is there any cure?
Q.

Johnstown, Wis., Sept. 23, 1879.

Answer.—Causes: blocky andropy milk are caused by blows on the udder, or any other injury, anything which sets up inflammation in the udder and mammary glands. Often, the disease is caused by extending of acid plants—sometimes also, by a sudden change to very rich nutritious food. There is a cure. The hardening of sections of the bag (mamitis) is the result of the same cause, and is part of the disease. Remedy.—First, give 1 1/2 lbs. of sulphate of magnesia (Epsom salts). 2 ounces of good ground ginger; pour over the ginger two quarts of boiling water, let it stand a minute, then add the salts, hold up the head of the cow while No. 2 gives the dose, about a pint at a time, until all is given as one dose.
After the operation of the laxative, give one day a week, two to three times a day, extract of Poke root (rhubarb leaves Decandra) in one ounce of rain water, then gradually leave off, not some of the pure Poke root in the congested parts of the udder.
Rub with much friction. Report results.

crack partially healed, and a fast horse, for satisfaction you get is "Oh! we've more millions and a foot rail," &c.; but when you go down to the bottom of the crack, you find it is the SPLENDID, and found in no other horse to date, is what troubles all the boys to get around the horse. The disease is caused by the following factors: 1st. By the Lath fastenings for all doors, in springing open, thereby omitting gases into rooms

2d. By the sliding and vibrating grate we en-

TIRED OF A HERMIT'S LIFE.

Returning Home After Forty Years Spent in a Cave.

BUSHKILL, Penn., Sept. 20.—Austin Sheldon, who has lived a hermit life for forty years, has been found in a cave in the wilds of Lehman Township, Pike county, Penn., about seven miles southwest of Dugman's Ferry, he has finally concluded to abandon his rocky habitation and return to the home of his youth. Sheldon was born in the village of Bradford, Connecticut, in 1806, where he lived with the family, his father being a farmer in comfortable circumstances. At an early age he learned blacksmithing, and became a master mechanic. Arriving at man's estate, he became enamored of a young and accomplished woman living near him. They became engaged. The woman's parents were averse to the match, and broke it off by sending their daughter to a distant boarding school. Sheldon was sent away in the night without the knowledge of his parents, he deserted his home and was never heard of until his hiding place was made known by a newspaper paragraph a few years ago. Sheldon walked from Conn. to Milford, Pike county, Pennsylvania. Having a small amount of money left he purchased a small, uncultivated tract of land in Lehman township. There was no clearing within several miles of him, and not having enough money to build a house he sought a cave in the rocks, and subsisted on fruit and game. This cave he since answered his purpose. He has lived without a single companion of any kind for about forty years, and until recently, expressed his intention of continuing his hermit life until his death.

But recent letters from relatives in Conn. urged Sheldon to abandon his wretched life and return to his native State, where he might live and not want for anything, he at last decided to do so. He has finally arrived in his friends, and as he will be quite a hermit life and return to it. Sheldon's quarters are at the same place they were when he left his hermit life. He has no stove, but he is cooking over a small fire-place; he sits in an old rocking-chair, and he has a bed of straw. He has no light at night except that coming from the fire place. He has not shaved in forty years, and in consequence a thick shaggy beard covers his face, and his hair, which is a grizzled gray, hangs far below his shoulders. Sheldon is now 73 years old, and is rapidly failing.

Joy That Kills.
From the New Orleans Picayune's Paris Letter, a telegraph clerk's wife had for some time been in failing health. She went, by advice of physicians, to spend the summer in a farmhouse in Normandy, where boarders were taken. She wrote her husband almost daily, and gave favorable bulletins of her health. Recently she received a letter bearing the postmark of the village where she was staying. It was written by her neighbor. The poor but devoted wife, fell into an arm-chair and was completely stunned by the blow. This stupor lasted three or four hours. She was roused from it by her door-bell. He opened the door. His wife, the picture of health, stood before him. His surprise and joy were sudden and too great. He muttered incoherent phrases, hysterically laughed and sobbed alternately. He was insane. The physicians fear his death will speedily follow.

PETIT JURORS

OFFICE OF CLERK OF CIRCUIT COURT, Rock County, Wis., Sept. 15, 1879.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday the 29th day of September inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., at my office in the city of Janesville, is said county, the Petit Jurors for the November Term of said court for the year 1879 will be drawn in the manner provided by law.

A. W. BALDWIN, Clerk.

BRIEFLETS.

—Where's that rain?
—Young Men's Christian Association to-night.
—James Shearer is to do the mason work on Richard Valentine's new house, the building of which will commence at once.
—Squire Needham of Magnolia has just sold six cases of Spanish tobacco to Mr. Atwater of New York for ten cents a pound.

—Arthur W. Hayward evidently means to wake up the people of Decatur, Iowa, on the boot and shoe business. Besides occupying a column after column in the papers there, he issues an illustrated paper of his own, which is full of fun and business.

—Dr. Palmer was to-day summoned by telegram to Carey, Ill., to attend the man Craney, who was injured by the falling of a beam from the railroad pile driver in this city a short time ago. It was thought at the time he might speedily recover, but the injuries are proving more serious.

—District Attorney Sale, Sheriff Comstock, Constable Drake, Will Doe, representing the Chicago Times, and J. D. King, representing the Inter-Ocean, and Thomas Johnson, who is connected with Jackman's livery stable were the only ones who went out from Janesville last evening to the scene of the murder.

—There was a lively runaway along Milwaukee Street last night it being a horse owned by Timothy O'Rourke and driven by his boy. The horse brought up on M. C. Smith's corner, and dropped the boy out unceremoniously, got free from the wagon and hurried up Main street toward home. The boy was not injured, but the wagon was.

—John Lloyd was driving a colt near Ford's mill last evening, when the horse became frightened and ran up the alleyway near the postoffice. The wagon struck an obstruction, and Mr. Lloyd was thrown out, striking his head on the curbstone, and inflicting a bad gash over the right eye, and bruising the side of his face. The horse was not stopped until he reached the gas house, Dr. Sanborn cared for the injured man, whose wounds will probably not prove serious.

A GRANGE PARTY.

There promises to be an unusually pleasant party at the Grange hall, in the town of Janesville, Friday evening September 26th, under the auspices of the Janesville Grange. Everything needful to a good time is being provided so that the enjoyment will be complete. Anderson's quadrille band is to furnish the music, and the floor managers chosen are G. R. Barker, Janesville, C. H. Holister, city, O. D. Rowe, Edgerton, H. Proctor, La Prairie, and G. W. Chase, Milton. The affair is in good hands and will doubtless prove a success.

A FAR-REACHING TRADE.

Harris & Smith are fast extending the boundaries of the territory from which orders come for their new safety lamp. Among the notable orders which they have received lately are some from the other side of the water, one being from Smyrna, in Asiatic Turkey. Another comes from Amsterdam. A large business house in that city has grown so enthusiastic over the merits of the lamp that they have not only ordered liberally, but have taken out letters patent for the benefit of Harris & Smith, and are now trying to secure the exclusive agency for all Europe. This far-reaching of one of Janesville's manufacturing enterprises is a mark of honor for the city as well as an evidence that the firm have got hold of a capital good thing and know how to push trade. Orders have also been received from South America. In fact the lamp is bound to sell almost on sight, and surely so when its workings are explained.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 58 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m., to-day at 40 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m., at 37 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m., at 51 degrees above. Clear.

One year ago to-day at 7 o'clock a. m., the thermometer stood at 51 degrees above and at 2 o'clock p. m. at 69 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, clear or partly cloudy weather, cooler northwest winds, rising barometer, followed by warmer southerly winds and falling barometer.

ARRIVAL OF SENATOR CONOVER.

Hon. Seimon B. Conover, of Tallahassee, Florida, arrived in this city last evening in company with Congressman Williams, whose guest he is for a few days, while he seeks rest and recreation. He is gladly greeted here, for his name and reputation are not bounded by the lines of his own State. He is an out and out Republican and though a native of New Jersey, and a resident of Florida, is by no means a "carpet-bagger." He has resided in Florida for thirteen years, settling there after resigning his commission in the army where he served for several years, first as Assistant Surgeon in the army of the Cumberland, and then being given several promotions in the medical corps of the army. During these long years in which he has lived in Florida he has been a true man, and has not only prospered in his private business, but has served the public faithfully in several positions of trust. He was a member of the convention which framed the constitution in 1868; was appointed State Treasurer by Governor Reed; was a member of the convention which nominated General Grant in 1868; and was at that time appointed a member of the National Republican Committee, on which he served four years; he was also a member of the State Executive Republican Committee of Florida; on retiring from the position of State Treasurer, at the expiration of his term of office, he was elected a member of the House of Representatives of the State Legislature and was chosen to preside over that body; he was elected to the United States Senate as a Republican and took his seat March 4, 1874. His term of office expired March 3, 1879.

HORROR OF HORRORS!

A Little Boy Most Bloodily Butchered by His Father's Hired Man.

The Details of One of the Most Sickening Murders on Record.

The Hot Pursuit After the Fiend Whose Name is George Baumgarten.

The Horrible Appearance of the Remains of Little "Sandy" White, the Victim.

A Mysterious Motive.

As bloody and heartless a murder as ever went upon the black record of crime occurred in this county yesterday, the scene being on the farm of Alexander White, a well known resident of the town of Porter, whose home is just across the line from the town of Fulton, and at a distance of about twelve miles from this city. The tidings which reached this city about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon embraced the meagre statement only that a hired man had killed the little son of Alexander White. This message was so horrible even in its brevity as to stir the hearts of all who heard it, but the details are of a nature which cause the blood to chill and the breath to hold.

Yesterday morning little Alexander White, familiarly called "Sandy," who was the victim of this most foul deed arose from his bed, where during the night he had tossed with the pain consequent upon some ailment of a temporary nature, and though feeling by no means well, yet with childish exuberance of feeling he begged his mother to let him go out with "George," the hired man, and see him plow in the field. The mother with natural solicitude thought that owing to his illness the child had better remain in and about the home, and forbade his going. Little Sandy seemed a great favorite of George Baumgarten, the hired man, and the latter in turn seemed attached to the child, and the little fellow being denied the privilege of going to the field, asked if he could not go to the barn and see George harness the horses. This request was granted and the little fellow ran off merrily to the stable. In a short time he returned and in great glee showed to his mother a whip which George had made for him, the handle being whittled from a piece of hickory, and the lash cut from a piece of an old cow leg. The boy was overjoyed with this, and after showing it with great glee returned again to the barn.

THAT WAS THE LAST TIME that the foal mother ever saw her boy alive, and the words so gleefully uttered—"See what a nice whip George has made me," will never cease their ringing, in strange contrast with the heart-sickening scene which followed, in the shelling of the very block of innocence by the same hand of George, which had a short time before made it to tangle with delight by a simple toy.

The mother busied herself with her household, assisted by her little daughter, a miss of about thirteen years, and never a thought of harm entered her mind until the minutes rolled into a half-hour, and even an hour, and no Sandy came back. She even then thought that the little fellow had forgotten her injunction and had gone to the field with George to see him plow. Going to the barn she called for him but no little voice answered hers. She saw that one of the horses stood harnessed and the door was gone from the stall. This seemed strangely bewildering, as both horses were used in plowing. Not being able to find either the boy or the hired man or the missing horse, she became alarmed and hurried to Mr. Sayre's, a neighbor, and told them. Soon the other neighbors were informed and a search began about the premises. This search was continued for a long time, and did not end until nearly two o'clock in the afternoon when Mr. Ephraim Sayre in looking through the stock barn, met

AS SICKENING A FIGHT as ever started the eyes of man. Under a long, low manger, used by the sheep, lay the mangled, murdered form of little Sandy. Laying on his side, besmeared with blood, with pools of the same bright red here and there marking the dull color of the ground, the little fellow lay dead. Lifting him up, a ghastly cut was seen extending four or five inches from the collar bone down, and from which the bowels protruded. The little throat was horribly cut from ear to ear. His hands were tied behind him with strips of cloth torn from a pair of overalls, and the little ankles were closely bound together with like strips. Around the neck was a rope which indicated that the fiend, whose work this was, had tried to hang the boy, and for some reason failing, had cut the rope and let the little fellow down, leaving the cruel noose about his neck, and the rope cut dangling from the beam to which it was tied. Near by was a piece of a grain bag, bearing the bloody marks of having been used as a towel to wipe the murderer's hands. Upon the door of the stable were the bloody imprints of that same cruel hand.

The mangled remains were tenderly removed to the shed where home and were cared for lovingly. Those who visited that home at a later hour would hardly have recognized in the little form which lay upon the sofa as though asleep, the same which had so startled the who found it lying mangled in the stable.

THE Hired MAN, George Baumgarten, was then hunted for. It was evident that he was nowhere about the premises, and the missing horse indicated that he had fled. The room usually occupied by him was locked up and there were found the bloody clothes which he had on when he committed the butchery of the innocent one. He had thrown those clothes off, and had put on others preparatory to flight. The motive which prompted him to do the deed is hard to determine. There seems no real, but rather the awful freak of a disordered mind, and yet the method which marked his madness is too great for any insanity claim. The sheep stable

WHERE THE BOY WAS MURDERED was at a distance of twenty-five rods from the house, and was some distance from the barn where the horses were kept. There were straw stacks intervening which cut off all sight from the house. It is almost impossible to guess at any motive, much less to state it. But a half-hour before the murder he had evidently shown his attachment to the lad, and had taken pains to make for him a toy whip. What caused this sudden revulsion of feeling is a mystery. It is supposed that he first tied the boy's hands and feet, tying up a pair of overalls to get the strips, and leaving some of these strips unused and lying on the ground floor of the stable. The rope with which he hung the boy was a bedcord. The brutal man for some reason, perhaps because of the boy's struggle, cut the rope and let him down; and then with the same knife to which he had been using, and going to the house, changed his clothes and taking one of the horses fled. The hired girl saw him come from the barn to the house, and heard him go to his room, but thought nothing of it at the time, and is not able to say what hour of the forenoon this was, except that it was sometime between 8 o'clock and 10 o'clock. Mr. White's brother who was passing along the road early in the forenoon saw little Sandy going out to the barn, but aside from these two none saw either of the participants in this bloody affair, after they left the house.

Mr. White was away from home at the time, having gone out into the country to buy tobacco, and not expecting to return for two days. Neighbors hastened after him, and finding him on the Stoughton road brought him back by their message of horror and woe. Others of the neighbors joined in the hunt for the murderer, and, mounted on horseback, scoured the country far and near.

THE MURDERER.

George Baumgarten, is a young man, being only between seventeen and eighteen years of age. The latter part of last February he came to Mr. White's in company with another man, who was also looking for work. Mr. White hired Baumgarten, and has kept him in his employ since that time. He said that he came from Fort Atkinson, and that his talk live between there and Jefferson. He seemed industrious and steady, and there had been nothing worthy of mention in his conduct on the farm, except that last summer he had a row with another hired man on the place. Baumgarten found a snake in the field where they were at work and picking it up threw it at his fellow worker in a very angry manner which could not be accounted for. The other man, after some words were passed, hit Baumgarten with a hoe, and this ended the quarrel, which would never probably have been mentioned to the public, but for the event which has just occurred. Aside from this one time he has not been engaged in any quarrels as far as known.

THE MURDERED CHILD.

Little Sandy was a child of unusual promise and activity. Of an affectionate disposition, full of those emotions which make a child of that age so interesting even to strangers, and so dearly beloved by those of nearer ties, he made friends with all. This sudden and horrible blotting out of such a pure life is doubly unaccountable to those who had watched the little fellow day by day, and who had seen in him so much to call out the admiration of everybody with whom he came in contact. Day before yesterday was his fifth birthday, and that the opening day of his sixth year should thus close in blood seems too great a burden of sorrow for the hearts upon whom it has fallen to bear. The little whip, which proved his last delight, was found in the manger under which the mangled form lay, and the little hat lay beside it.

THE CORONER'S JURY.

Justice Spencer, of Edgerton, impaneled a coroner's jury last evening, consisting of D. F. Sayre, James Downing, H. H. Dickinson, Ralph Pomeroy, Edwin Wallen, and S. L. White. Dr. H. H. Judd, of Edgerton, made an examination of the body in the presence of the jury, and some evidence was taken, after which the jury adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

A verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts stated above.

CHASING THE MURDERER.

Sheriff Comstock who with Constable Drake drove out to the scene of the murder last evening, continued their pursuit after Baumgarten. Several others are after him also in different directions. Mr. Hunt, who is selling bugles through this part of the country, on starting out of Stoughton yesterday morning, met a man approaching that place on horseback, who on being noticed turned off onto another road. He was going at a good gait, and was riding a horse which answered the description of the one which was taken from the stable. The man was a young looking fellow, and answers the description of Baumgarten so nearly as to render it almost certain that it was he.

At about six o'clock last evening a man answering Baumgarten's description passed through Madison. His pursuers arrived about two hours later.

Sheriff Comstock was this morning in Watertown. Those in pursuit of the fellow have taken different directions so as to insure his capture.

HANGING BEFORE CUTTING.

From a careful examination of the rope and the manger it appears that the little boy was first hung up and then his throat was cut while he was hanging. This might account in part for the deepness of the gash in the throat. The rope's end has blood upon it, and was cut evidently with a bloody knife. If so some of the cutting must have been done before he was taken down.

FROM MADISON.

This morning's Democrat, at Madison, gives the following which shows the manner in which the pursuit has been kept up, and its result:
Last night Deputy Sheriff H. J. Rhodes, of Stoughton, arrived in our city. He is certain that he traced Baumgarten to within a few miles of this place; and when he arrived, he says a person described a young man passing up Main street, from the old depot, on horseback, about five o'clock, last evening, which answers the appearance of the murderer, almost completely. Mr. Rhodes is of the opinion the deed passed through this place. Mr. D. Earl, cousin of the murdered child, has joined in the hunt with Deputy Sheriff Rhodes.

At two o'clock, this morning, parties were still out on the watch, and conferring with each other as to the best mode to pursue at day light. There is a fixed and unalterable determination to hunt out the fugitive, and if the present feeling continues, woe be to him.

THE FUNERAL.

The relatives of the murdered boy have arranged to hold the funeral services at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning at the residence.

MONUMENTAL ART.

F. A. Bennett, of this city, who has already gained an enviable reputation as an artistic worker in marble, has just completed, at his shops, and placed in position at Edgerton an elegant monument to mark the last resting place of Robert Stone. The monument is of Scotch granite and stands fifteen and a half feet high. The ground base is four feet square and four-tenths inches thick, above which is a die of proportionate dimension, and a shaft sixteen inches square, with a cap, making the whole a beautiful and lasting monument, and one which is not excelled in size and workmanship by any in the county. The monument alone cost about $300, and the carving $100 more. Mr. Bennett has shown rare skill and artistic taste in the design and finish of this tribute to the departed.

THE SUICIDE OF JACOB FOWLE.

The Ellsworth, Kansas, Reporter, just received contains further particulars of the suicide of Jacob Fowle formerly of this city, speaking in the highest terms of Mr. Fowle as a good citizen since his removal there. Regarding the circumstances of the suicide it says:

"For some time Mr. Fowle has been troubled in regard to his business and has at times been peculiarly nervous, but on Sunday evening, on an occasion when his mind would wander back to the business of the week, he was unusually cheerful, making remarks that would indicate thoughts of a desired continuance of life. The night before, however, after a conversation with his son on business, he remarked to his wife that he was afraid he was going crazy. About two or three days before, he had spoken to his son-in-law saying he believed his mind was giving way. He then transacted business very strangely for some time, making purchases that were preposterous and doing other things that were noticeable as strange. In this frame of mind the unhappy thought came to him and as one being led on by a magnet, not contemplating the deed sufficiently to consider the horror of the sorrow that would surround his family, he took a piece of new rope and repaired it to the stable in the rear of his store, where after fastening the rope to a post he put the end around his neck and being led on by the magnet, he stepped from the stable and falling from the roof of the store, he broke his neck in the fall, thus rushing from this world of trouble to him to that of no more pain in the expression, but a look as if he had fallen asleep. The body was found shortly after, cut down and an attempt made to restore life, but to no purpose, and he is now numbered among the dead, but not forgotten by the host of friends who followed him remains to their last resting place, or by his family, who mourn the loss of a kind father and affectionate husband, and who have the sympathy of the whole community in their sad bereavement. The request over the body, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of death at his own hands by hanging while temporarily insane."

As an elegant hair dressing stands Parker's Hair Balsam, deservedly popular for the beautiful hair it produces, and its cleansing and healing properties. Commencing at the root, it promotes a luxuriant growth of young hair and unfailingly restores gray or faded hair to its original youthful color, giving a soft, rich and lustrous appearance of great beauty. It is pleasantly cooling to the scalp, cleanses it from dandruff, cures itching and humors, and stops falling of the hair. It is perfectly harmless, exquisitely perfumed, never soils the skin or gums the hair, and places everybody by its many excellent and attractive qualities. A patron assures us that he has used 12 different hair preparations and that Parker's Hair Balsam surpasses them all. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents and $1.00 by all first class druggists.

HIGH SPECULATIONS.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $50 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3% per cent, equal to $387.50 per hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75, in addition to the $50 invested. A conductor made $1,176.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $19,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculation consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty days. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with great advantage. Gentlemen:—For the benefit of those afflicted with Dyspepsia or weakness of the digestive organs, I would state that I have been engaged in the drug business upwards of twenty years, during which time I have sold no medicine that has relieved so many as the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and having myself been afflicted for a long time with indigestion, I was perfectly cured by taking one large bottle.
